

A NETWORK CAROL

The Ghost of Networks Past, Present, and Future

'Twas the night before Xmas and Network-Geezer Stooze was having a bit of a nightmare.

His former colleague was ghosting him!
But he needed to pick their brains to find out how the company's network tech had been implemented in the past.

“ What people don't see is that when you have a turnover of staff because you're not enabling them properly, there's a wealth of knowledge that walks out the door with them. ”

James Williamson
Managing Director, BestPath

GHOST OF NETWORKS PAST

He mused
about all the changes he'd seen over the last 10 years.

To his horror, he realised they were still using VERY - OLD - INFRASTRUCTURE
to run critical services.
And this was holding them back.

“ People can talk all they want about new stuff... but keeping the lights on and keeping the business running is number one. So, people do get scared about turning old stuff off! ”

Nicholas Bridgeman
Managing Director, BestPath

GHOST OF NETWORKS PRESENT

He mulled over his current challenges with the hybrid cloud.

Making sure users
get a consistent service.

And talking with a wide range of teams
for 'infrastructure anywhere' to work.

“ The challenge is making sure people get the same service, regardless of the infrastructure that their application's deployed on. ”

Nicholas Bridgeman
Managing Director, BestPath

GHOST OF NETWORKS FUTURE

Then he wondered about the future.
How could he make his network more sustainable?

And how would Artificial Intelligence and Machine Learning change his job?

“ Physically, things are going to have to change to allow businesses to adhere to their sustainability policies. ”

Nicholas Bridgeman
Managing Director, BestPath

THE NETWORK XMAS PRESENT

Network-Geezer Stooze awoke with a start!
He knew what he had to do.

With expert support
He'd find the best path
So, his network would work true.

“ One of our mantras, is just 'keep it simple' ...in terms of capacity to support while still delivering the functionality that's needed. ”

Nicholas Bridgeman
Managing Director, BestPath
